'A decade ago, logistics was a different landscape. But as I reflect on the past 12 years of recruiting, the change is both profound and inspiring. There's an uptick in the number of women powering through the logistics sector, and it's exhilarating to witness!'

As a recruiter, I take immense pride in placing the right candidate in the right role, regardless of gender. But I must admit, seeing women flourish in logistics fills me with optimism for the future of the sector.'

LAURA LILLEY - BRANCH MANAGER
BRIDGWATER

I have been working in logistics for years now. Although it is a male dominated industry, it's refreshing to see more and more women enter this field of work. I like the variety of each day being different. It is challenging and keeps you on your toes, whether it's recruitment or operational related. I am seeing more changes in working patterns and flexibility within the logistics industry, allowing increased accessibility for women and those needing work to fit around other priorities.

'I started from agency and worked through departments, getting trained on multiple MHE. I really enjoy working in a fast-paced environment, with a lot of opportunities for women in logistics to progress.'

KIRSTY PARKER -
WAREHOUSE OPERATIVE

I'm proud to celebrate International Women's Day as a Siamo employee. They've helped me progress with my career from an onsite consultant, to a senior and now I am working as a Contract Manager at our site in Dordon. I have been encouraged to progress and have been fortunate to complete apprenticeships, whilst doing my job.

DORDON

Joining Siamo to work in Dordon was a little bit nerve-wracking as this was my first job working in a warehouse, in the UK. As soon as I came onsite, I was very welcomed. I am supported everyday from my trainer, team leader and Siamo.

It's great!
